How does Via Appia invest in its employees? Are there training and workshop sessions that will help employees hone their skills?

Here at Via Appia, we allow our employees to immerse themselves in unique Learning Opportunities that will help gain both professional and personal development.

- Living a Fruitful Life – A weekly engagement activity where employees are invited to participate as they listen to inter-related topics that aim to guide them in living a fruitful professional and personal life
- Consulting 101 – For both technical and functional consultants to help equip them with what they need to know when dealing and serving clients
- Culture & Communication Workshop – enablement programs that aims to educate our employees on what makes our business and culture great.
- Values Formation Program – We believe that investing heavily in our people's skills as well as developing their character is important to help them excel. If we help them grow in both skills and character, we help them succeed in life. This program aims to do just that and more.
- Leadership Development Program – This program aims to help our people managers understand what leadership is about, develop the skills to help them deal with challenging people, and teach them the abilities they need to develop in order to succeed as leaders.
- Partner Platforms Certification for select technology roles and platforms
- Self-Paced Learning Program that provides employees access to courses on Udemy as well as Harvard Programs
